Norberg Will Propose Art And Forest Commissions To City Council Wednesday

Councilman Gunnar Norberg would like to see writers, artists, persons interested in art, music, drama, and the preservation of the Carmel forest in the audience when the city council meets Wednesday night in city hall at 7:45 o'clock.

He will propose that the city council establish two new commissions, arts and forest.

The arts commission of nine or more, appointed by the council, should be made up of painters, musicians, actors, directors, producers, also interested individuals with executive ability and talent for organization and public relations, he thinks.

Purpose of the arts commission? "I'd like to see more use of the Forest Theater and the beach for drama, music, festivals and pageants. I'd like to see a Carmel Opera Festival established. I think someone should find out about the festival in Florence, Italy."

And there should be more interest and encouragement for our Carmel painters in this community and throughout the country, Mr. Norberg pointed out.

And more interest here in the activities of the several drama and music groups.

The arts commission should not dictate to or interfere with the independent activity of the various groups but stimulate interest and support. And it could well act as liason agent among them, he thinks.

The forest commission would act in an advisory capacity to the planning commission and city council. "It should think in terms of forest and not of individual trees. If people want to take out a tree they should think of it, not as a tree, but a part of the forest, and what effect its removal will have on the forest as a unit."

"Remove a tree, plant a tree" thinking should be avoided, he observed. The forest commission should consider surrounding area for several blocks, "and recommend a group of trees, or perhaps no tree at all, depending on the needs of the forest."

The forest commission would do a job of education, persuasion, and encouragement for preserving and

Artist, Archeologist John Gunnels Discovers Painted Cave In Mexico

BY ROSALIND SHARPE

Briefly visiting his old friend Willard Hougland, John Gunnels, artist, sculptor and archeologist, came to town last week and left a fascinating pre-Columbian art collection which will be shown at the Carmel Mineral Arts starting Friday. Willard Hougland who is a publisher, writer and photographer, and is presently working on a book about D. H. Lawrence, will be in charge.

The art collection consists largely of stone figures and masks from what is loosely termed the Mezcala culture (along the Mezcala River) in the state of Guerrero, Mexico. John Gunnels discovered the artifacts in and near a cave. The cave, which he says is very old, has wall paintings in charcoal and iron, and on his next trip he plans to take a photographer with him. He will leave for Mexico again in a week or two.

Gunnels, a former school teacher bearded and 37, has a wife and six children. On his first trip to Mexico a year ago his family accompanied him, but this time he is leaving them in Virginia while he continues with his archeological digging, as in Mexico the children (who range in age from one to thirteen) had no schooling.

Otherwise they fared very well in Mexico, he reports. At first they lived in Cuernavaca, then went to Guerrero where they had a house in an Indian village near Chilpancingo. His wife was the first white woman they've ever seen, he said. "White people aren't supposed to be able to go into that country. I sent my wife and six kids in on burros".

The state of Guerrero is the richest in artifacts in all of Mexico but curiously enough it has been virtually unexplored, Gunnell reports. Artist Miguel Covarrubias, who has contributed greatly to

Kids May Attend Class In Tents In Spite Of Bonds

Carmel Unified School Board, on Tuesday evening, set September 15 as first day of school next fall.

Building construction at both Woods and River School should be well under way by this date although pupils may not occupy new classrooms until December.

"I'm thinking of having classes in tents north of the swimming pool," High School Principal Warren Edwards said this morning, faced with a classroom shortage next fall and an expected increased enrollment. "The gym is another possibility as physical education classes for boys and girls can be taught outside during the fine weather fall months. Everything depends on next fall's total enrollment," he concluded.

Tuesday night the school board also canvassed election returns and tallied 47 absentee ballots. Forty yes votes were received for the bonds, seven noes. Thirty-eight absentee ballots favored the over-ride tax, nine were against it. Then the board certified the following totals which will be transmitted to the county education office. Bonds, yes, 2,482; no, 796. Over-ride tax, yes, 2,212; no, 1000.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the board will look at three possible building sites at the mouth of the Valley. Ed DeMars, director-

Republicans Hold Open House Friday At Monterey Hdqts.

Local Republicans open the Senator Knowland for Governor headquarters at 412 Pacific Street, Monterey, tomorrow afternoon with a reception from 4:00-6:00 o'clock at which beer and coffee will be served.

Mrs. Mark Thomas, chairman, has arranged for Peninsula Republicans to be present to answer questions about June 3 political candidates. Among these are Corum Jackson, Joseph B. Fratessa, Mrs. Rody B. Holt, Fred Mitchell, Mark Thomas and George Tomlinson, members of the County Republican Party Central Committee; Howard Bucquet, Richard G. Mack, Maurice T. Moore and Charles O'Gara, candidates for the county committee, Eleanor Kerr, Orville G. Mead and Arthur Hately, past or present executives of local republican organizations.

On Sunday from noon till 1:00 o'clock Peninsula Republican Women's Clubs will hold an open-air reception on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey for Senator Knowland's wife and daughters.

Mrs. Knowland, Mrs. Harold Jewett, Jr. (Emlyn Knowland) and Mrs. Robert V. McKeen (Estelle Knowland) will arrive in Monterey in the Bill Knowland special bus. On arrival in Monterey they will be presented with bouquets of local flowers by Angelita, Lolita and Carmel Concepcion, daughters of Danny Concepcion of Carmel.

"We're Lucky He's Willing To Run," Key Citizens Back Swim's Candidacy

Enos Fouratt, chairman of the citizens' committee for the election of Dudley Swim to the Carmel School Board, reports strong and favorable reaction to Swim's announcement of candidacy. Among the citizens who commented on Swim's qualifications this week and offered support for his election is Captain Archer M. R. Allen (USN, Ret.)

"Dudley Swim is a man of firm opinions, who has a good business head and a very good business background," said Captain Allen, who emphasized that he was speaking solely as an individual, and not as the president of Carmel Unincorporated. "I firmly believe," he added, "that Dudley Swim would be a very good man indeed for the Carmel School Board."

Talbert Josselyn, noted Carmel writer, referring to Swim's superior scholarship while in college, and speaking in approval of his school board candidacy, said: "He is a Phi Beta Kappa man whose feet are solidly on the ground."

Former City Councilman Francis Whitaker, who last year attended many of the same Carmel School Board meetings that Swim did, and who consequently observed at first hand his attention to local school matters, said of him: "With his background in finance and his interest in our schools, I believe he would do a good job on the board."

Gunnar Norberg, newly elected councilman, adds his approval of the Swim candidacy. "It is not often," he said, "that voters in any local school district have the opportunity to elect to their board a man of Dudley Swim's outstanding scholarship, long continued interest in educational matters, and wide experience in financial and business affairs.

Captain H. M. Gleason, (U.S.N., Rt.) well-known public figure, strongly urges the election of Dudley Swim. "I think he is the ideal candidate for the school board at this time, because the problems faced by the board now and in the

See What Happened To Your Letter To The City Council

If you want to know what happened to that letter you wrote to the city council, you might drop into San Carlos Hotel in Monterey some time today or tomorrow. The Biennial City Clerks' Institute of the League of California Cities started Wednesday and will run through Friday.

Carmel City Clerk Larry Rose fixed up a handsome display to demonstrate the course of a letter to the city council. It is in the meeting room at the hotel but after the convention closes, it will be at city hall or perhaps at the library.

Mr. Rose, chairman of the arrangement committee for the institute, gave his welcoming talk Wednesday morning.

MAYOR TO PITCH FIRST BALL FOR LITTLE LEAGUE OPENER MONDAY

The Carmel Little League Board of Directors met Monday evening at the home of Ken Bennett, League secretary. President Bill Woolsey projected plans for further development of the Carmel Little League Ball Park, and it looks like a very busy work-week for the fathers!

Plans included the extension of the fences to the property lines, closing in the doors and windows and the stuccoing of the Field House, the laying of a sewer line, complete the weed annihilation program, enlargement of the P.A. system, and the setting of the concession stand. Fathers of our future Mickey Mantles are urged to support their boys, and to donate as much time to this work-week as possible. Their efforts will be greatly appreciated. The opener, on May 5 at 6:00 o'clock in the evening promises to be a colorful affair. Carmel Mayor John Chitwood will wind up and try to toss the first ball past J. O. Handley, prominent local lumber baron, into the waiting glove of Police Chief Clyde Klaumann. This pre-game entertainment alone, should pull most everyone away from their TV sets to support their Little League.

Starting at 6:00 o'clock Wednesday, Chief Umpire Joe Anzini will conduct an umpires school and issue rule booklets to his already well-qualified arbiter teams.

All of the Major League and Farm Team managers will be active this week readying their teams for the interesting struggle for the League championships. (Ever try to manage thirteen energetic boys? These managers really work!)

Mrs. Warren Knapp, in charge of the concession stand, is anxious to be contacted by volunteer mothers to help her. Telephone MA 4-7168.

TIM O'SHEA BLANKS PACIFIC GROVE WITH TWO-HITTER

Pitching his best game in four seasons of high school baseball, Tim O'Shea threw a two-hitter at arch-rival Pacific Grove last Tuesday afternoon to win the crucial league tussle for the Carmel High nine. The stocky lefthander had sharp control in this one and his cracking curve sent 13 Breaker swingers back to the bench via the strikeout route. Opposing hurler, Archie Stewart, was the only Breaker to solve Tim's slants as he connected for a pair of singles.

While O'Shea was blanking Pacific Grove, the Padres took to the offerings of Archie Stewart for five runs in the first inning, two in the third, two in the fifth, and two more in the sixth to make the final read 11-0. Ron Fala, Padre shortstop, topped the Carmel hitters connecting for a double and single in four chances. Tim O'Shea also hit a double to aid the Carmel cause.

SALMON DERBY OPENS SUNDAY

Sunday is the first day of the 17-week Monterey Peninsula Salmon Derby sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Monthly fishoffs and the grand fishoff are again features of the event with a Blind Bogey attraction added. The latter is a random weight class chosen by the JC's each week. The fishermen bringing in a fish nearest the weekly random Blind Bogey weight will win a prize. There will also be a weekly prize for the largest fish caught. Three monthly prizes will be given and a grand prize at the end of the Salmon Derby.

CARMEL HIGH TRACK TEAM AT HOLLISTER SATURDAY

Coach Fred Rainer takes his Carmel High track squad to Hollister this Saturday morning with high hopes of capturing the B-division CCAL track crown. The enthusiastic Padre thinclads have beaten most of the B-division schools in dual meets but haven't been able to top the crack squad from King City. King City and Salinas are the only schools to post dual meet wins over the Padres this season and a win for Carmel Saturday would avenge the loss to the Mustangs. Point estimators who do all their track work with pencil and paper figure the Padres and Mustangs far ahead of the rest of the field with either team able to win a slight margin. King City rates the edge on first places in the running events while Carmel figures to dominate the field events and pick up most of the second and third places in the running events. If the meet is close enough so that the relay will be the decider, the experts give the nod to King City on the strength of a win over the strong Salinas High relay quartet.

Potential point-makers for the Carmel heavyweight squad in Saturday's Big Meet are: Tony Bingham, Bob Forbes, Craig Smith, Bill Hicks, David Vincent, Ted Smith, Mike Raggett, Alf Ander-

Blossoms, Birds and Boys Blend Well with Water!

WATER is the basic ingredient for summertime enjoyment and for a happy afternoon here is a recipe that is hard to beat:

Take one summery day. Fold into your backyard a bird bath, a water hose, a garden, and a cool, green lawn. Spice liberally with neighborhood kids, taking extreme precaution to keep kids from mixing too thoroughly with garden. After puttering with garden, and enjoying bathing of sparrows, douse kids generously with water. For best results, leave kids to soak for two hours. Recipe may be enriched by substituting adults for kids, although some flavor may be lost.

Even with its propensity for enjoyment, water is usually taken for granted. But those who furnish the supply know that nothing concerning a water system can be taken for granted. Engineering must be exact, plant facilities must be adequate, laboratory analyses must be accurate, and sufficient funds must always be available for improvement and expansion.

Artist, Archeologist Gunnels Discovers Painted Cave In Mex.

the field of archeology, feels that it may easily supply the "missing link" of middle American culture.

John Gunnels is first of all a painter and sculptor but the interest in archeology, which he has had all of his life, has to a great extent taken over. He is a graduate of William and Mary in Virginia but also studied art at the University of Denver where one of his professors was Dr. Ramus, another artist with a great interest in archeology. The linkage between the two fields becomes more easily apparent when one studies some of these ancient Mexican stone images and suddenly discovers a resmblance to the work of Brancusi and Henry Moore or even one of our modern abstract painters, such as Klee.

Gunnels himself is an abstract painter and makes his living at it. He was a school teacher in Virginia for a number of years but gave it up a year ago because he found it impossible to support his wife and six children on a teacher's salary. He has shown his paintings largely in Virginia and Colorado, and has also "sold a lot of stuff in Washington, D.C."

Though John Gunnels is not seemingly an emotionally intense person, he feels very strongly about painting. One senses that here is a man with a purpose who will accomplish that purpose.

"You have to communicate one way or another," he says, "Everybody does." He prefers painting to writing because, "You can't look at a whole book all at once. You have to do it in sequence. With a painting, you can see it all at once. It's there. Some people can do it with words better than with a painting. One is always learning, and one sees things in a different way. You get a spark. You get an idea. Others might be able to build on it".

"Feelings", John Gunnels continued, "are the hardest thing in the world to talk about. But in painting it comes out, even if the feeling the person gets from looking at it is not the same feeling the artist had".

His recent discoveries in Mexico in the Mezcala country date back, he thinks, to about 500 B.C., but "some might be much older". In addition to sculptures, he has found stone beads and seals and chains of gold, many of which he has left in Carmel with Willard Hougland.

"Whenever a workman died", Gunnels explained, "They buried his tools with him".

He has found skeletal remains in several places but not at the site of his present digging. Some of the artifacts he has discovered are between 3000-5000 years old. He explained that the reason for the absence of skeletal remains in many places where artifacts are found is that bones disintegrate when they are old. They will crumble at a touch. He also brought with him an enormous tiger's tooth surrounded by calcified material and some mastodon's teeth. The ivory, of course, is much harder than bone.

He notes that in Guerrero the Indians have a legend of giants who once lived there but were killed by the people. The same legend appears in South America.

Archeological expeditions are expensive to finance, even in Mexico. On an expedition he has to hire at least five men and five horses at 10 pesos each, or about $40 - $50 a day. "For ten days it takes $500". Then when you find something, he explained, you may need to have 30 men working.

When asked as to his impressions of Mezcala culture as a whole, Gunnels said "More should be known about it. It would shed a lot of light on Mexico, Guerrero is practically unexplored and little is known under what condtions objects have been found there".

There are more artifacts in Guerrero, he explained, than at Teotihuacan — the "classic" culture at the pyramids outside of Mexico City.

"The Guerrero area must have been extremely important", he said.

John Gunnels left early this week for Los Angeles where there will be an exhibition of his sculpture. This same sculpture will be shown here at a later date.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

Please, everybody, don't be too cross with our Spring winds! There is a therapeutic value to the blow-blow, and Nature wakes up her growing things with her own brand of calisthenics. For the winter months, trees and shrubs go to sleep; they shed all semblance of life. Along comes the Springtime and like the hibernating creatures of fur and claw, the mountains and plains open sleepy eyes and wonder what it is all about.

Along comes a brisk blow and the dance of the forests begin. It is exactly like calisthenics. Limbs are stretched and waved about, sap is started flowing, and if you will look at it from my angle you will witness a mad tarantella, a beautiful exhibition of ballet.

When we have a stiff sou-wester here on our coast, I hurry to my picture window and sit for hours watching my grove of oak trees responding to this call of Nature. Never have I seen anything more beautiful than the bowing and bending of limbs, asleep, lo these long months. Trees interlock branches, leaves kiss their neighbors, and the waving and nodding of my own private oak grove is a delight to witness.

Now, let's get practical; the therapeutic value of wind goes far deeper than the aesthetic nonsense that I enjoy. Without wind we would have small growth. It is a cleaning-up period for Nature. Dead branches are felled; brown and sere foliage is torn from the trees. And that is not all. How do you suppose we derive natural fertilizers in our forests? From the winds. Dead branches and leaves are ground into humus and form the organic part of our soil.

Why, even Tennyson grows lyric over the wind;

"Sweet and low, sweet and low,
Wind of the western sea,
Low, Low, Breathe and blow,
Wind of the western sea."

Of course, there is another way of looking at the wind. When wind gets too fresh and grows to hurricane proportions, even I have no laudatory eulogy. But then, nothing is ever perfect. There is ever the "fly in the ointment".

"God made the star-hung sky
for us,
And singing trees and hills
and lakes
Of course, He made mosquitoes too
But then, everybody makes mistakes."

Dunes, Sea and Mists Imbue Carmel's Short Grey Summer, With Charms of Its Own . . .

Never inclined to follow the crowd, Carmel, being special and set apart, by Nature and by its residents, has its own version of the long hot summer of more conventional areas. Here summer can mean refreshing mists of pearly fog (wonderful for the skin); invigorating walks on a breeze-cooled beach; tea by a stone fireplace; long drives on a rocky coastline; tweeds and cashmeres instead of sun suits and beach umbrellas.

During the restful days ahead find ways to make Carmel's connoisseur version of summer more enjoyable for yourself, your guests and family. Consider new equipment for your home; personal accessories to brighten your casual wardrobe; foods packaged and processed so kitchen time is cut to a minimum. Carmel shops and stores and markets are ready for Summer — cool, grey and short, or long and hot, whichever the Fates provide. By shopping here at home you not only find the best, you strengthen the prosperity of your home community, put your dollars to work where they benefit you the most.

Beyond Human Knowledge "Pulls The Mind Outward"

By Mona Williams

It seems to me that the quality of wonder is lost to modern man. Marvels have come too quick and fast; we believe all that we read and hear — our eyes and ears and minds are wide open. We give only lip-service to wonder.

"Isn't the space-age incredible?" we say, "Isn't it marvellous what they're doing with drugs?" Actually, nothing seems incredible now, not even a rocket to the moon. We no longer have the emotional reaction — Why? But why not?

The difference between why and why not is the difference between the alive and inquiring mind that doubts and examines and speculates, and the dead-end mind that just takes in the facts and lets it go at that.

This is all prelude to comment on Dr. Rudolph von Urban's new book, Beyond Human Knowledge, a book which gave me back a part of my atrophied faculty of wonder. This book defies classification. Einstein, Freud, Dr. Rhine of the Duke University experiments, and Bishop Ziegler all commend the writer on the jacket, and the book is as diversified as are these noted men.

Yet there is a certain order about it, progressing from organic matter, to plant life, to animal life, to man, and, in the end, to God. Still, you could not classify it simply under science. It rests, yes, upon a solid foundation of fact, but this serves mainly as a take-off and landing field for theory, speculation, question, wonder.

What kind of a wonder-world do bees live in, whose many-lens eye can see a spectrum of color far beyond our own? Can the cellular organization of our bodies be compared to an ant colony? Can the embryo retain in its subconscious, a memory of human voices heard before birth? Can the origin of the Biblical term for woman—Adam's rib—be connected with the fact that she has one more chromosome than man, and that, seen in an ultramicroscope, chromosomes are rib-shaped?

Psychoanalysis, medicine, astrology, Freud and God — all are linked and distilled into a rich brew of one personality. In the beginning while his material is still impersonal, Dr. von Urban speaks of himself detachedly as "the author". But as the reader continues, the man, himself, emerges from the text, abundantly portrayed in personal narrative and in relation to distinguished associates. What it adds up to, is that the book is good company.

Dr. von Urban has had an extraordinary life as physician, psychiatrist, student and author, filled with episodes that can be explained only in terms of the supersensory or the mystic. He does not consider them inexplicable. To Dr. von Urban, today's mysticism is tomorrow's science, and belonging to the generation of ready believers, this I am prepared to believe. But also it seems reasonable to me, when I stop to reason, to accept his earnest conviction that we are too prone to draw dividing lines between instinct and intellect, between faith and reason, between test-tube science and airborne hypothesis not yet caught and dissected and reduced to a formula.

This is less a book review than an account of one woman's reaction to it. The feminine mind, more than the masculine, is apt to stay too close to home, to concern itself too much with things and people. Beyond Human Knowledge is a book to counteract that, to pull the mind outward and send it soaring.

Pine Cone,
Carmel, Calif.

Gentlemen;

Your paper is mentioned in the May Reader's Digest in an article on Billboards.

Since you are now recognized on this subject I thought a suggestion from me might help you in your arguments.

The Billboard people are going to argue that the U. S. is trying to put them out of business so why not get a regulation by Congress requiring everyone who wants to put up a sign be forced to get a Permit. Then allow no more signs than THREE to a mile. Charge a fee for permit large enough to cover Police expenses.

Its not going to be easy to get any kind of a bill thru so with some such a compromise we might at least have signs so far apart that enough View might be left to be a little attractive.

I am retired but have driven over a large part of the roads mentioned in Digest and agree Federal regulation is the only safe way to control the problem.

Very truly,
Lee C. Rose.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The Music Department of the Monterey Peninsula College presented its annual chorus concert conducted by John Erickson and assistant conductor Angie Machado at the Carmel Mission. Formerly the chorus has performed in front of the altar facing the audience, but as the church choir sings from the loft at the rear, the chorus did likewise, and the sound was enhanced.

Interesting Seventeenth century selections were offered, including a Tower Sonata, also three motets of the Thirteenth Century and a Bach Fugue arranged by C. H. Taylor, all played by a brass quartet composed of Ken Muronaka, Ron Bain, Gene Bailey and Jerry Hightower following the German custom when brass ensembles were played daily in many a church tower.

The chorus of forty, in their picturesque crimson robes, marched double file up the aisle to ascend the spiral staircase to the loft, and were heard in a multi-sectioned Gloria by Vivaldi. Solo parts were taken by Nancy Daniels, Deanna Backwith and Hazel Bond, sopranos; Buel Moore, bass, and Benny Loftin, baritone. The shape of the old building seems to accentuate the carrying quality of tones from the balcony so that the chorus sounded strongly throughout, and its precision showed good work by the conductors. Surprising was the power the Mission organist and choirmaster, Heinrich Bender, produced from the small electric organ in a Bach Jubilo solo and in the accompanying throughout. One longtime Carmelite remarked she had never heard the limited instrument do so much! Bender's good musicianship was in evidence. The music department can be happy at the result of their offering which added to the annals of local church concerts. It was listened to by a fairly large audience.

The Monterey Peninsula Concert Association at Pacific Grove climaxed its season with the Rudie Sinfonietta and Soloists, a delightful group of music entertainers who performed both classic and musical comedy numbers. It was a refreshing variety program under the clever direction of Robert Rudie, solo violinist and conductor of the chamber orchestra of eleven good musicions who presented the Haydn Symphony in A major, the first movement of Mozart's Concerto in G major. Noteworthy was the work of harpist Cynthia Otis and two excellent vocalists, Phyllis Williams, soprano, and Robert Kirkha, baritone. The Strauss Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz, Sarasate Gypsie Airs and two encore numbers were also performed by the Sinfonietta. Besides his capable direction and talks to the audience, Rudie performed the solo of the Mozart Concerto in a masterly way while leading the group.

A scene with solos and duets from The Marriage of Figaro provided the classic avenue for the vocalists whose artistic singing and acting was a high light in both this and the Roger and Hammerstein comedy numbers to which they added another, Its A Grand Night for Singing. They carried away their audience completely.

Cynthia Otis is a brilliant and independent harpist who displayed her musicianship in fine tone in Ravel's Introduction and Allegro, accompanied by the orchestra, and later alone in Salzodo's Chanson dans la nuit, to which she added a flourish in Windy Night by Rudolph Forst. An encore demand also followed Rudie's violin playing and brought forth a scholarly rendition of the Gavotte from Bach's Partita No. 3. The pieces of varied standard were all delivered with a high order of musicianship therefore enjoyed by the Peninsula contributors to the County Concert Association which is so capably headed by Mrs. Clyde Franklin Dyke.

GREETING CARD FOR A GURU

The roses are cloud-white;
the leaves, sea-green;
both drink from the same root.

That root is one with earth,
but even earth itself becomes a root of the wide universe where swing uncounted stars vibrating always to the centred core, part of the same life force,
part of the one unchanging Self.

He who has boldly scaled these hills, steep hills of knowledge age-old reaches to climbers down each misted slope, points them the moon-clear path,
lit path to wisdom and to happiness.

—HELEN FAULKNER.

LIGHTS

Salt stung under the sea
Are my eyes wide open.

Chill kissed by night waters
The wand of my body,
Dipped and swept in rhythmic arcs,
Conjures infusorial stars
To magically lantern the way
Through abysmal submarine.

Even in those darknesses
Will my eyes see light.

—E. W. NORTHNAGEL.

FOLIAGE BLOWING

I have been watching foliage blow
All morning in the valley breeze,
Rewarded with a more eloquent show
Than humans give, by shrubs and trees.

Olive and poplar in the dust,
Green-ginghamed housewives otherwise,
Swirl silvery garments to the gust,
With Attic beauty for the eyes.

Acacia flings her fingers forth
As if a dryad sought escape,
Oak nods sedately, north and south,
Wearing a philosopher's cape,

Cypress sways like a muted dirge,
While golden mustard, holding a thrush,
Creates the tangible, faint urge
Of Pan and syrinx under hush.

—LORI PETRI.

MRS. JAFFE TO TRAVEL

Mrs. Glenrose Bell Jaffe left Carmel on Monday to gather information on Russia for the pocket guide, Key to Europe, which she edits. She will travel in Russia during early June visiting both Leningrad and Moscow before returning to Carmel the latter part of the month. Mrs. Jaffe spent several days in Los Angeles before leaving for New York. She is flying from there to Copenhagen, then Paris, and next Belgium where she will visit the World Fair. She also plans to spend time in Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden while she is away.

Besides editing her travel guide, Mrs. Jaffe finds time for various Peninsula organizations. This past year she has been vice president of Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, written publicity for the Symphony Guild, and organized Youth Concerts for the Monterey County Symphony Association.

Georgie And Clark Returning

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bruce are on their way home from a visit to Illinois. A postcard from Webster City, Iowa, reports that they enjoyed seeing the Calico Hills on their way east and have had "a fine trip, but are glad to be heading for home."

GROUND OBSERVER RUMMAGE SALE

Tomorrow morning starting at 9:00 o'clock in the American Legion Hall the Ground Observers Corps is holding an all-day rummage sale. A good selection of children's clothes, shoes, toys and women's accessories will be for sale also kitchenware and books. A snack bar will serve cake, cookies and coffee and sell cookies to be taken home. Mabel Heyer is in charge of the snack bar. Sue Bachman, Virginia Burger, Bertha Masuen and Lillian White are in charge of the other tables. Mrs. Myrtle Jewell is chairman. New members for the corps are being recruited at this time.

MacLennans Escape "Monsters"

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Mac Lennan returned the first of the week from visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. MacLennan, in Santa Monica. Highlights of the visit were luncheons and a cocktail party, an exhibition of modern German paintings at the Ambassador, where Mrs. MacLennan (E. Cashion MacLennan) has a one-man show, and journeys in Disneyland down tropical rivers where the prompt gun work of the guide saved the passengers from the jaws of wild animals threatening the boat, and from the clutches of ghostly monsters and demons of the underworld. For Mrs. Mac Lennan the highlight of Disneyland was a trip down the Mississippi on the Marktwain, for formerly she had ridden on the river boats, and one of her early recollections is of a performance of Uncle Tom's Cabin on a Showboat.

"Buzz" At County Board

Outstanding senior Daniel (Buzz) Richardson will spend Monday morning telling the County Board of Education about the instruction he has received in science and mathematics at Carmel High School and what he plans to do with this foundation after graduation. He will go to Salinas at the invitation of the County board who have asked five other schools to send students to describe their high school training as an observation of Public Schools Week.

Wine And Food Society Meets

Mrs. Robert Stanton of Carmel Valley, party editor for House Beautiful, assisted by her architect husband, was in charge of last night's Wine and Food Society dinner at the Beach Club.

Mrs. Stanton arranged that all food was Californian served with California wine. Fish for the hors d'oeuvres and fish course was from Monterey Bay. The Stantons smoked the salmon for the party in their own smoke house.

The Marquis and Marquise de Pins, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Benoist and Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Wood came from San Francisco, and local members present were Mrs. Marie Davis, Mrs. Stephen Field, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Work, and Mrs. Work's mother, Mrs. Kent Parrot from Santa Barbara, Mrs. Suzanne Torfs, Mrs. August P. Armanasco, Tom Moore, Harrison Godwin, Admiral Robert Braddy, Dr. and Mrs. Clyn Smith Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Marble, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKever Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni, Mr. and Mrs. Gallatin Powers and Mr. and Mrs. John Melville.

Bensbergs Leave For Vienna

Carl Bensberg and his eight-year-old son Gerhard left Carmel on Tuesday morning. After a stop in Santa Clara with Mr. Bensberg's sister, they will fly to New York and then across the Atlantic to Rotterdam on the Dutch ship Ryndam. In Woesburg, Germany, Mr. Bensberg will pick up a new car for the drive to Vienna and again spend the summer in his home there. Gerhard, who has been a pupil at Serra School this winter, will resume studies at the same school his sixteen-year-old brother Helmut attends. Helmut remained in Vienna this winter to pursue dental technician studies.

Wits About Town

Francis Whitaker has stopped bemoaning the fact that Carmel is no longer a village. On Monday morning at 11:00 o'clock he saw a doe running down Fifth Street.

"But she couldn't find a parking place so didn't stop at the post office for her mail," says Mr. Whitaker.

Colonel Robert E. Osborne, retiring co-president with his wife of the High School P.T.A., announced at Tuesday night's meeting that the unit was petitioning the California Congress of Parents and Teachers that co-presidencies and vice-presidencies should be made official for P.T.A. units everywhere.

"More Togetherness," whispered Frank Lloyd to his neighbor Mona Williams.

Edith McIntosh, Stan Ewig Wed

Edith Betty McIntosh and Stanley Edwin Ewig were married on Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock in All Saints' Episcopal Church by the Reverend David St. Leger Hill. White stock and baby breath decorated the altar with bouquets of the same flowers, tied with white satin bows, placed on either side of the chancel steps. Robert M. Forbes, church organist, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, David McIntosh of Corte Madera. Her wedding dress of elaborately embroidered white nylon over white satin had a rounded-neck, short-sleeved fitted bodice extending to the hipline from which fell the floor length full skirt. Her long gloves were of the same embroidered nylon as the gown and a small white circular tiara held her elbow length veil in place. White bouvardia, and stephanotis, centered by a white orchid, formed her round bouquet.

Her attendants were Allison Cathro of Carmel, maid of honor, and Mrs. John Anderson of Oakland, bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in turquoise nylon floor length gowns. Their long gloves were made of the same material as the dresses and their shoes matched their gowns. Turquoise carnations were used in their bouquets and head garlands.

Gordon R. Ewig of San Jose was best man for his brother and Roger Nelsen, cousin of the groom, was usher.

The reception following the marriage was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ewig. Mrs. Ewig received the guests wearing a beige linen-ribbon knit dress, red hat, shoes and accessories and an ermine stole. Large bouquets of white stock and baby breath arranged with white satin bows, placed at each end of the fireplace mantel in the living room, formed a background for the bridal party. Two bouquets of the same flowers adorned the dining room table which was centered by a three tiered cake topped with a cluster of white satin bows.

After the bride and groom cut their cake with a beribboned knife, one of their wedding presents, they left for a honeymoon at an undisclosed destination. For travelling the bride changed to a beige wool suit with a short fitted jacket, white hat and patent leather shoes and bag. To the shoulder of her jacket she pinned the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

On their return they will live at Second and Dolores Street. Both the bride and groom are associated with Reynolds and Company, investment brokerage firm. The bride attended Alameda Schools before beginning her business career. The groom is a graduate of the Carmel Schools and served in the Navy before entering business.

Miss Ethel Solliday, president of Peninsula Soroptimists, admires the first articles sent in for the Craft Fair, May 22-25, with Mrs. Ruth Sarett of Carmel Foundation (seated). The Soroptomists are sponsoring the Craft Fair with Carmel Foundation and Carmel Lions Club as co-sponsors. Lion August Nieto is donating a room and the patios of Su Vecino for the four day event.

Senior craftsmen (50 years old or over) are eligible to enter their work, also younger homebound or handicapped persons whose articles will be picked up on request. All craft work will be for sale with craftsmen receiving the proceeds. Entry blanks must be in by May 10. They may be obtained at Harrison Memorial Library or by calling MA 4-3140.

Stamp Club Will Hold Auction

At the next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club an auction will be held in the Carmel High School Library on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

All stamp collectors and their friends on the Monterey Peninsula are invited to attend. Material submitted should be labelled with the catalogue number and price, condition, used or mint, and the minimum bid accepted.

At the last meeting, Colonel John R. Wright presided. E. D. Yount and Douglas Brooks won the door prizes. Mrs. L. S. Stallings served refreshments. Alan Wigham and E. R. Blankenship reported on the final plans for the stamp exhibit to be held in the USO on May 4.

Eight Gardens On MPVS Tour

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services is presenting its seventh annual Garden and Patio Tour, Maytime on the Monterey Peninsula, on Wednesday between the hours of 10:00 and 5:00 o'clock for its traditional beneficiary, the Visiting Nurse Association.

Eight gardens, five in Carmel, three in Pebble Beach, will be shown. They range from spacious estates to intimate walled gardens, where individual taste is given full scope because owners do most of their own gardening.

In Carmel, the suggested route of the tour is as follows: Mrs. Margaret Strasburger, Carmelo and Scenic Road; Mr. and Mrs. Avery Tompkins, Valley View and Sixteenth, Dr. and Mrs. John Homer Woolsey, Carmelo and Sixteenth (now occupying the home of Mrs. Robert E. Jones); Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carpenter, 711 Scenic Road; Mrs. J. F. Gurley, Camino Real and Fourth.

In Pebble Beach, the garden of Mr. and Mrs. S.F.B. Morse, 17 Mile Drive; of Mrs. F. G. Cruikshank, 17 Mile Drive and Cypress Point; and the home and garden of Mr. and Mrs. James M. R. Glaser on Oleada Road, where tea will be served between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock.

The price of a ticket includes tea and the entrance fee to the 17 Mile Drive, through the courtesy of Del Monte Properties Company.

Tickets will be on sale at Carmel florists, the garden department of Holman's, at the gardens on May 7, and from MPVS members. With each ticket will go a handsome brochure, containing a listing of gardens and their descriptions, and a map showing the most convenient route.

For those who need transportation, cars will go from the Nielsen corner during the tour. Please call Mrs. John J. Walsh (FR 2-8026) to make reservations.

Russells Look At Grass

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Russell are back in Carmel this week after a trip to Southern California, Nevada and Arizona "looking at grass," says Mr. Russell. The flowers were never better than this year," he adds, "and I know because I've been looking at them for a long time. If there are no flowers there is no grass for my cattle." Mr. Russell has ranching interests in the Cuyama Valley in Santa Barbara County and each year surveys the grass and flower situation in the spring.

The garden of his home at Santa Lucia and San Carlos Streets is a mass of wild flowers too. "I'm hoping something will move in and help me keep them under control," is Mr. Russell's plaint, weary from keeping his natural garden a delight to passersby.

BABE RUTH TRYOUTS

The final tryout for all Babe Ruth League candidates will be Sunday at 1:00 p.m. The site will be changed from El Estero Park to Jacks Park at the corner of Pearl and Adams Streets in Monterey. All Carmel boys who have missed one tryout date must appear Sunday to be eligible for the player auction which takes place Wednesday, May 7.

SWIM MEET AT CARMEL POOL MAY 1, 2 AND 3

Under the direction of Frank Young, Monterey Peninsula College swim coach, the 1958 State Junior College swim championships will unfold at the Carmel High pool today, tomorrow, and Saturday. This is the first time the State Championships have been held in this area and swimming is bound to receive a boost because of the increased interest in junior college swimming. Coach Young anticipates about 25 junior colleges for the three-day meet and predicts that the Long Beach JC will win with points to spare but also rates his MPC team as one of the strong contenders for a fair share of the points. Big splasher for the Lobo swim squad is former Watsonville high ace, Don Beukers, who is considered one of the top mermen in Northern California junior college circles.

There is only one swim event scheduled for Thursday but that is a tough one and will take about 20 minutes to complete. This is the 1500-yard freestyle which covers about 65 laps in the Carmel pool. A full schedule of trials will be run off on Friday with the finals slated for Saturday. Admission charges for the three-day event are a dollar for adults and fifty-cents for students and servicemen.

CCAL SWIM MEET AT WATSONVILLE SATURDAY

Short on practice but long on spirit, Coach Paul Morlang's Carmel High swim squad travels to Watsonville this Saturday for the Coast Counties Athletic League swim championships. Due to repairs to the racing pool, the Carmel natators have been shortchanged on their practice time and go into the league championships with only one meet for the entire season. The Padre squad lost a close dual meet to the Watsonville Wildcats but showed surprising power against the favored Wildcats. Saturday's meet shapes up as a close tussle among Monterey, Watsonville, and Carmel with Monterey having a slight edge. Coach Morlang expects to pick up points with Mike Cook, Andy Horning, Pete Rice, Sam Farr, Al Eaker, David Grimes, Mike Marquard, Bert Blanks, Jim Aitken, Jeff Bannister, Ade Bennett, Doyle Clayton, Jeff Smith, Bill Hicks, Andy Elliott, Mal Burdis, Mike McGibney, and Ed Wilson.

CIRCLING THE BASES

With more teams, more players, and improved playing conditions, Carmel's Little League swings into action next Monday evening with San Carlos, 1957 Champions, meeting Wilder & Jones, one of the new teams this season. There will be regular Little League games every evening next week, with the farm teams taking over on Saturday . . . The Carmel Merchant softball team ran into a toughie from Santa Cruz Monday night and dropped a 5-2 decision to the Surf City champions. The Santa Cruz aggregation is one of the topflight AA teams in the area and will be tough for any of the Peninsula teams to handle . . . Jack Miller's Carmel Babe Ruth League team is slated to open play May 30th in the Monterey Babe Ruth League. This will be Carmel's first venture into the popular circuit and the local entry draws tough Baldwin Pianos for the league opener . . . Coach Dan Yurkovich's Carmel High junior-varsity unit clipped the King City nine Saturday morning, 7 to 0, and came right back Tuesday afternoon to hand Pacific Grove a 14-1 lacing. The frosh-soph aggregation is improving with every start and could be the best in the B-division junior-varsity race. Many of the jayvee performers are eligible for Carmel's Babe Ruth entry and will switch uniforms when the prep season is over . . . Team to beat in the varsity section of the CCAL B-division appears to be Hollister which is breezing along with an undefeated season so far. The Haybalers are 5-0 in league play followed by Carmel, Gilroy, and Pacific Grove who are tied for second with 3-2 records. The Padres blew a chance to take over second place when King City upset them, 7-1, last Friday. King City was winless before upsetting the Padres but in pitcher Tom Campbell the Mustangs have one of the best in the league. Unlucky Tom has pitched three one-hitters and one three hitter and has lost three of the four games. Carmel's next varsity appearance is at Felton Friday afternoon against San Lorenzo Valley High. San Lorenzo pushed Hollister to the limit before bowing 4-3 in last Friday's game.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Ordinarily we dislike to mention books before they are published. No one ever seems to remember they have not yet been published and they come steaming into the library demanding the book, and are disappointed. But this book today is special, really special.

It all began when Kippy Stuart had a party and Mona Williams was there. We got to talking about books, which was a joy because Mrs. Williams talks as she writes, easily and well, and she said the book to watch was one by Jean Ariss, coming out soon. Watch we did, and a review copy fell into waiting hand through the courtesy of a local bookstore, librarians not rating review copies of anything. In this librarian's opinion, The Quick Years by Jean Ariss, is a book to read, and to buy and read again.

The Quick Years is the story of Joseph Baer and his thirteen children. It is the story of Grandmother, wife to Joseph, who was born Sarah Englemonger, but who was never called Sarah. It is the story of Sheila-West, granddaughter to Joseph, who came to live on the farm and be a daughter to Joseph and Grandmother and be raised in happy confusion with their own children. And finally, it is the story of the gradual forging through of the old Jewish customs and religious convictions which wore away Grandmother's Gentile upbringing and compelled her to marry Joseph under the canopy according to the Jewish faith. This was the third time that Grandmother and Joseph were married, and each time Grandmother was pregnant with one of his many children, joyously and contentedly pregnant.

This is a book you must not miss. The library will have three copies. The Quick Years by Jean Ariss of the Monterey Peninsula.

This being Old Home Week for this column, let's speak next of another book by a local author, which is Lincoln's Emotional Life by Dr. Milton Shutes of Carmel. This is Dr. Shutes' third book about Lincoln. In it he has analyzed Lincoln's psychological and emotional life, his frequent spells of being unwell and despondent, his unconscious death-wishing. The many people interested in Lincoln should welcome a new book by a recognized authority as Dr. Shutes is. This book has been published and is waiting at the library for you.

Movie, Exhibit At Town House

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Leslie Deck will show color films at the Carmel Foundation Town House. One, Land of Zinj is a picture of East Africa wild life and scenery, and shows native ways of living that have come down from pre-Biblical days which are now being replaced by modern mechanical methods. Also shown will be a short Folk Dance Festival. The program begins at 3:00 o'clock.

The May art exhibit at Carmel Foundation Town House will open on Tuesday when Carmel artist, Geza St. Galy, will exhibit some of his most representative tile and mosaic work, as well as some watercolors. During this same month Mr. St. Galy will have an exhibit combined with lectures at the Montalvo Art Association in Saratoga. On the Wednesday program for the Town House on May 14, he will give a talk illustrated with color slides on the media and developing of ideas and design in his unique method of work. The exhibit will be open to the public during Town House hours, daily except Saturdays and Sundays, from 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock beginning May 6 and continuing through the month.

Regular activities at Town House are: Mondays from 11:00 to 12:00; French and German conversation groups; Tuesdays from 2:00 to 4:00, Miss Donna Davis' painting class; Wednesdays from 10:00 to 12:00 instruction in stitchery, weaving and stencilling by Mrs. Paul Rockey; Thursday at 2:00 o'clock chess and scrabble; Fridays at 2:00, bridge or canasta. Newcomers are welcomed in all groups.

Postcard From The Kochers

A postcard sent to Carmel friends by Dr. B. A. Kocher reports that he and Mrs. Kocher are "taking in Paris in big gulps, no indigestion so far."

"Paris is very much alive," Dr. Kocher adds, "and seems to have changed little". Picture on the card is of the book stores along the Seine.

CARMEL RED CROSS COOKIE TIME

Once every seven months the Carmel Red Cross Chapter is called upon to furnish cookies for patients at the U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Ord. Ward parties, coffee hour in the Red Cross lounge and a snack after the movie become real events when home-made cookies are served.

"Many, many cookies are needed," says Mrs. Isabelle Terhune, Gray Lady chairman, "everyone can help who can stir up a batch of packaged cookie mix." The Junior Red Cross is adding to the supply cookies they will make in the Home Economics Department at the High School.

The cookies are to be brought to the chapter house on the four Tuesdays in May and should be there by noon.

Hunter Trials Start Friday

The Pebble Beach Hunter Trials, an Olympic benefit to support the United States Equestrian Team starts at the Pebble Beach Stables tomorrow. On Saturday afternoon the cross country tests will be over the Bird Rock course. Thomas Bunn Jr., training for Olympic competition, with Colonel Milo Matteson near Santa Barbara, will return home for the Trials. Other Pebble Beach entries are Mrs. Marie Davis, Miss Camille Stahl, Mrs. Shreve McLaren Archer Jr., Susan Osborne, Ernest Simard, Jan Carpenter, Claudia Frisbie, Georgene Dovolis, Virginia von Hasseln and Mary Waromth. Mrs. Alan Pattee will bring a group from Carrol de Tierra, and entries have been received from Atherton, Soquel, Mills College Riding School, Woodside, Menlo Park, Los Altos and Stanford Riding Club. Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly Nichols will be hunter judge.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Collins are giving a luncheon in their patio tomorrow for out of town exhibitors and officials. A similar affair will be given on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. James Shewan. On Saturday evening there will be a dinner dance at the Beach Club. Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Simard, Mr. and Mrs. William Stahl and Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. Frisbie will co-host a picnic luncheon at the Frisbie home and that evening Mrs. Marie Davis will entertain at a cocktail party at her home in Pebble Beach.

secretary of the County Planning Commission, will be asked to give his opinion on the sites and on May 19 Dr. Rolfe Lee of the state department of school planning will be here to inspect the three pieces of property.

On Monday the County Board of Supervisors will call for bids on the two construction projects planned in the Carmel School district, classrooms at the High School and River School. These bids will be opened on June 3 for the High School and June 5 for River. The school board cannot obligate the district to finance construction before July 1.

Salary schedule changes for both classified and certificated employees will be studied this week with regards to budget requirements for next year and what money is now available for the district. It may be necessary to await a decision until Carmel district finds out whether Public Law 874 is renewed or discontinued. At present the school district receives $22,000 of federal funds under the law which reimburses school districts for teaching children of armed forces personnel.

Teachers receiving tenure at Tuesday's board meeting were Mrs. Viola Birdsall, fourth grade at River; Miss Mary Lee Desmond, sixth grade at Sunset; Mrs. Ednah Mae Goines, kindergarten at Woods; Miss Marilyn Haney, second grade at River; Frederic Rainer, English and coaching at the High School; Mrs. Martha Schisler, first grade at River; Mrs. Frances Lee Taplin, fourth grade at Woods; William Wakefield, physical education at the High School and recreation director for the district; Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, seventh grade and girls' physical education teacher at Sunset.

Senior pupils from Carmel Valley who wish to finish their education at Monterey High School next year will be transported as far as Carmel High School in Carmel district buses; there is little probability that Carmel district buses can carry them over the hill, the Carmel board decided. Other students from the Valley who, for some specified reason, wish to attend Monterey High may have their parents submit requests for this privilege to the Carmel school district.

Contracts to teach in Carmel schools next year were granted to Miss Jean Helgren, a graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara, who will teach English at the High School; Miss Nancy Deaver from Occidental College, to teach a second grade at either River or Woods; John Graham, social studies at the High School; and John Duncan, seventh grade and science at Sunset.

Diplomas were awarded former Carmel High School students David L. Ostrander and Thomas J. Nelsen, who have completed high school requirements in the Army. Audio-visual and hearing tests contracts were renewed with the county in spite of increased cost to Carmel district.

Teachers Miss Marilyn Haney and Mrs. Martha Schisler are resigning for personal reasons.

Cora Hanna

Mrs. Cora Lillian Hanna of Carmel Valley died on Sunday evening in a local rest home after a period of failing health. She was born on November 19, 1881, in Lee, Massachusetts.

She was a social worker associated with the Rochester Children's Nursery in Rochester, New York, for over 30 years before she retired.

Her daughter, Miss Virginia Hanna of Carmel Valley, is her only surviving close relative.

Private funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with the Reverend William W. Eastburn, vicar of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, officiating.

Sculptor Weygers To Exhibit His Color Camera Art

Alexander G. Weygers, Carmel Valley sculptor, will show his color transparencies at the Circle Theater Friday night at 8:00 o'clock. He will be introduced by Professor George Stone, for many years head of the photography department of San Jose State and author of major textbooks on photography which are used throughout the United States and especially by the FBI.

Professor Stone introduced Edward Weston to the public as a lecturer for the first time. In a recent letter to Miss Helen Manzer, nationally noted photographer, Professor Stone wrote of Mr. Weygers: "Trusting entirely to his superb training in art, and his knowledge of the quality and intensity of light, he achieves consistent success and has produced a set of slides that I should have been proud to make — had I his genius."

Mr. Weygers calls his work "artography" or art in photography, and entitles his color slide exhibition Beauty In Your Own Background. Photographers, nature lovers, artists, botanists and gardeners who have had previews of his work at his studio describe it as "exciting", "a new dimension," "a look at nature through the artist's lens."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How sin and suffering are overcome through spiritual understanding of God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following from James (4:8): "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (239:16): "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning."

Norberg To Propose Art, Forest Boards At Council Meeting

planting trees on private property.

It could accept donations from individuals and organizations for a fund to provide native trees for individuals to plant on private property. It could work with real estate offices and architects in encouraging new site owners to plan their homes so they can save their trees. It could establish a fund and receive gifts of money so the city could purchase land for natural areas.

Some of the proposed activities of the arts and forest commissions are now functions of the council and planning commission, but the council and planning commission are swamped with routine work. However, Mr. Norberg feels that one or several members of the planning commission should also serve on the forest commission.

years immediately ahead, involve the spending of large sums of money. The tasks to be faced demand the kind of experience which Dudley Swim has so abundantly had. In a time of heavy taxation, we need some one with his skill and experience in financial matters to see that we get the most out of each tax dollar."

Alton Walker, local airport board member, who is familiar with Dudley Swim's important responsibilities in large business organizations operating on a nationwide scale, believes voters here are offered an unusual opportunity to elect an outstanding man to local public office.

"The fact that Dudley Swim organized the original Stanford Research Institute is obvious indication that he has a great interest in the whole educational process in America," Walker said. We can certainly look forward to greater advances in our local educational system," he added enthusiastically, "if voters will elect him to our school board. We are, in fact, greatly indebted to Dudley Swim for his willingness and his interest, at considerable sacrifice if he is elected, to offer himself for service on our school board. I cannot too strongly urge voters to go to the polls May 20, to elect Dudley Swim to our school board."

Civic Ballet Co. To Give Spring Concert In Forest Theater

with Eugene Loring of the American School of Dance, worked with the company as a guest teacher while producing a new ballet.

Frank Bourman, known to Southern California audiences for his work with the Panieff Ballet and the Greek Theater Light Opera Ballet, appeared with the Ballet Rambert in Europe for two seasons. He received his technical and artistic training under the direction of Marie Rambert, Michael Panieff, Valentine Froman and Alexandra Sawicka. He has produced two new ballets for the company. Currently he is teaching the workshop classes and is a member of Miss Dean's faculty as a guest teacher.

Alexandra Sawicka was a member of the Serge Lifar Concert Group in Paris while receiving her professional training from Mme. Olga Preobrajenska. Miss Sawicka was soloist with the Anglo-Polish Ballet in England for five years. She performed in Sleeping Beauty, Spectre de la Rose, Les Sylphides, and Cracow Wedding. She received instruction from Stanilas Idzikowski and Lydia Sokolova. From 1944-1951, Miss Sawicka was affiliated with the Metropolitan Opera and Ballet Theater Company in New York. Her ballet masters at the Metropolitan were Laurent Novikoff, Boris Romanoff, Edward Caton, Aubrey Hitchins, Anthony Tudor, Margaret Craske and Alexandra Fedorova. Miss Sawicka now has her own school in Berkeley.

Dorothy Dean has had as her teachers Preobrajenska, Egorova, Rambert, and the Royal Ballet training for teachers in Europe. In this country she has studied with Adolph Bolm, New York City Ballet School, Dimitri Romanoff and Eugene Loring.

The Board of Directors hope to present the Peninsula's first ballet company in performances throughout Central California, and extend an invitation to all dancers and interested artists to become active in this civic and professional company.

Jane Hexter Opens Central Box Office

A new service, the Central Box Office commences operation today in the May Court shops, opposite Purity Market, on Mission Street, above Sixth Avenue. Jane Hexter, owner of the just-opened box office, will provide theater tickets for Peninsula attractions at no additional service fee to the purchaser of the ticket. At present Miss Hexter will confine her serice to local attractions, with a possibility later that out-of-town theatrical tickets also will be available here through Central Box Office.

Miss Hexter, a Peninsula resident for the last eight years, is a graduate of the University of Southern California; she has held career positions in New York and in Los Angeles. At one time she owned her own research organization in Los Angeles. Most recently, she assisted in the box office of a Carmel shop which conducts a ticket service for theatrical and musical events.

Central Box Office will be open seven days a week from 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon to 6:00 o'clock, with a round-the-clock telephone service at the Carmel number, MAyfair 4-6739.
